

FILIPINOS HAVE NOT HAD ENOUGH

MacArthur's Forces Have
a Lively Skirmish.

ENEMY FINALLY REPULSED
WITH HEAVY LOSS.

Preparation For Attack By Rebels Had Been In Progress Several Days.—
Believed to Have Been Under the General Supervision of Aguinaldo.— Report of the Assassination of the Insurgent Leader Is Not Officially Confirmed.—Filipino Junta In London Denies the Rumor.—Otis' Force Considered Inadequate to Meet Demand.

Manila, June 16.—[Special].—The rebels have broken out again in the north.

MacArthur's forces around Sanferrado
had a lively skirmish with the Filipinos this morning but finally repulsed the enemy with a heavy loss.

Renewed Attack on Sanferrado.

Washington, June 16.—[Special].—If anything is necessary to emphasize the assertion that Gen. Otis' fighting force is not strong enough numerically to master the situation in the Philippines,
it is the report of the insurgents' renewed attack near Sanferrado territory,
but recently cleared of rebels.

The report of Aguinaldo's assassination is not officially confirmed.

Enemy Was Quickly Repulsed.

Washington, June 16.—[Special].—
The following has been received from Gen. Otis this afternoon: "The northern insurgents concentrated a large force near Sanferrado this morning and attacked MacArthur's troops. The enemy was quickly repulsed and driven, leaving over fifty dead and a large number of wounded on the field. The enemy is in retreat.

"Our casualties were fourteen wounded, mostly very slight. Preparations for this attack were in progress several days. It is believed to be under the personal direction of Aguinaldo."

Junta Denies Report.

London, June 16.—[Special].—The Filipino junta here denies the report that Aguinaldo has been assassinated.

Manila, June 16.—Evidences accumulate that the demoralization of the Filipinos since the defeat of the insurgents at Zapote is widespread. Thursday morning the mayor of Imus walked into Bacoor and formally surrendered his town. He was sent to Gen. Lawton at Las Pinas. The mayor told Gen.
Lawton that the people of Imus were very glad that the Americans had come. He said that the Filipino army consisted simply of Aguinaldo's "band
of cutthroats."

The town, which the Spaniards required months to capture, was peacefully garrisoned by two battalions of the Fourteenth infantry. Many of the inhabitants who had been terrified by the insurgents fled from the town as our scouts marched in, but later they began to return at the solicitation of the mayor.

Apparently the backbone of the insurrection in the Cavite province is broken. The brief campaign has been more effective than even Gen. Lawton anticipated. A priest at Las Pinas told Gen. Lawton that 4,000 rebels were defending Zapote. A man swore upon the crucifix that he would only leave the field dead.

Gen. Lawton thinks that their defeat under such circumstances accounts for the demoralization of the rebels. The insurgents made the pluckiest stand they have made in the course of the war. The fight at Zapote bridge was terrific. The rebels had twenty-foot fortifications, while our men were unprotected. The short range made it impossible to use artillery, and the mountain guns were fired at twenty-five yards. The Krag-Jorgensen blew
the rebels' heads to pieces like shells.

The official report shows that 121
rebels were buried on the field right where they fell in the hardest of the fight. No search was made for our dead beyond Bacoor. Imus has not been occupied by our troops yet. The Twenty-First and Ninth infantry are returning to Manila. The Fourth infantry, Thirtieth and First Wyoming infantry have been sent in rascos to Las Pinas. A substantial bridge has been built at Paranaque, and preparations are being made to hold the towns. The people of the country covered by the Americans are swarming back to the towns.

Washington, June 16.—Gen. Otis cabled
Tuesday the following:

"Manila, June 15.—Adjutant General, Washington: Success Lawton's troops Cavite province greater than reported yesterday.

"Enemy, numbering over 4,000, lost
in killed, wounded and captured more than one-third; remainder, much scattered, have retreated south to Imus,
their arsenal.

"Of five pieces of artillery three captured.

"Navy aided greatly on shore, landing forces occasionally.

"Inhabitants in that country rejoice
at deliverance and welcome, with enthusiastic demonstrations arrival of our troops. OTIS."

The war department bulletins the following:

OTIS SATISFIED OF LUNA'S DEATH.

He Has Sent a Confirmatory Report to the War Department.

Washington, June 16.—It is learned that Gen. Otis has sent a dispatch confirming the report of the assassination of Gen. Luna at Aguinaldo's headquarters. Gen. Otis regards the death of Luna as important, because of the prominence of the man and the following he had among the military element of the natives.

Although Col. Arguelles, the first commissioner sent to Manila, came from Luna's headquarters, it is believed Luna was opposed to peace. Dispatches sent by President Schurman have stated that Aguinaldo hesitated to stop hostilities because of his fear of Luna
and other prominent Filipinos.

Medals for Sailors.

Washington, June 16.—The navy department has received the 1,700 bronze medals authorized by congress for the officers and men who participated in the battle of Manila bay.

SAYS REBEL CHIEF IS KILLED.

Report at Manila That Aguinaldo Has Been Assassinated.

Manila, June 16.—Aguinaldo is reported to have been assassinated by followers of Gen. Antonio Luna. The news of the death of the Filipino dictator was brought to Manila Wednesday evening by a native employe of the Manila & Dapunan railroad.

While it is impossible to confirm this report, it seems to be based on good authority.

Undoubtedly the assassination was the result of the manner in which Gen.
Luna lost his life, for there now seems to be no doubt of the authenticity of the report that he was killed by the guard at Aguinaldo's headquarters on June 5.

BARROWS SENTENCED

One of the Kidnappers of Baby Clark Given Fourteen Years and Ten Months.

New York June 16.—[Special].—Geo.
Barrows, one of Baby Clark's kidnappers, was found guilty this morning and was sentenced to fourteen years and ten months at hard labor at Sing Sing. Bella Anderson was given four years.

Cut and Run.

"Cut and run" originated in a peculiar custom of the Egyptian embalmers. A low caste was employed to make the first incision in the corpse, a process
viewed with much dislike by the people, who held him accursed who should mutilate the dead. As soon as the fellow had made his "cut" he had to run through a storm of curses, stones and sticks. He "cut" for a living and had to "run" to save his life.

The true origin of the expression "to cut a man" is curious. In the reign of Henry VII a bailiff of Lincoln named Jo Dun was so active and clever in collecting debts that it became a proverb
when a person tired to avoid payment, "Why don't you Dun him?"
"Hobson's choice" is derived from one Hobson, who used to let out horses
for hire, and who obliged every person who wanted one to take that next the stable door, being the one that had taken the most rest.—Chicago Tribune.

America in Old World Eyes.

"Last year," says the Chicago Times-Herald, "the United States occupied only 44 pages of the space in the world's great annual, 'The Statesman's Year Book,' and these followed Turkey in the alphabetical arrangement of its contents. This year 232 pages and four maps are devoted to what amounts to a comprehensive register and review of our government, politics, commerce,
industry, social condition, resources and progress. And as if to emphasize the new departure the new data precede all the rest and have a special index of their own. Such is the revolution wrought in the old world attention to American affairs by the remarkable year of stress and expansion through which we have just passed."

Rise of Henry C. Frick.

Thirty years ago Henry C. Frick was a poor bookkeeper in a flour mill in Fayette county, Pennsylvania. He made his start in business by the purchase of a small interest in a coal mine near his home. The business grew steadily. In 1873, at the time of the panic, he was only 24 years old. The panic enabled him to acquire the whole plant, and then he began to spread. He bought everything he could reach in the way of coal land, and when the reaction came he found himself enormously wealthy. At forty he took in the coal trade. In 1878 he took in a partner, E. M. Ferguson of this city, and in 1882
the Frick Coke company was organized.
Andrew Carnegie then became associated with Mr. Frick in the coal and coke business, and for many years the two worked together. Mr. Frick is only five feet four inches tall, blonde and slight. He is affable and generous, and has great capacity for work and organization.—New York Tribune.

An Ocean of Tea.

It has been calculated that something like 1,250,000 pounds of tea are imported yearly by Londoners, and that the tonnage necessary to contain this amount, if properly shaped, would comfortably take in the whole of St.
Paul's cathedral.

MANY KILLED IN MINE EXPLOSION

ACCIDENT AT CALEDONIA
MINES, CAPE BRETON.

Over Forty Men At Work At The Time—Believed That Nearly All
Perished—Fifteen Bodies Recovered
—Scenes About The Pit Were
Heart-rending.

Halifax, June 16.—[Special].—An explosion this morning in the Caledonia
mines, near Glace Bay, Cape Breton, was accompanied by a terrible loss of life.

Over forty men were at work at the time and it is believed that nearly all perished.

Twelve dead bodies had been removed
at 9 o'clock.

Halifax, June 17.—[Special].—Three more bodies have been found.

The scenes around the pit are heart-rending. Mothers and children are running around looking for their fathers, brothers and sons who were known to have been in the pit.

STRIKERS STILL OUT

Difficulty of Denver Smelters No Nearer
Solution—12,000 Men Now Idle.

Denver, June 16.—[Special].—The smelters' strike appears to be no nearer a solution and 12,000 are now idle. The prospects are that the number will be doubled shortly.

The miners proposed a compromise,
but the employers refused to treat with them as members of a union.

Around the World.

Around the world in 33 days is the possible pace set by Prince Hilkoft, the Russian imperial minister of ways and communications, now officially studying American railway methods. To make the circuit in this time modern fast ships and railway trains are alone considered, but with these available on the routes specified he gives the time as follows: Bremen to St. Petersburg by rail, 1 1/2 days; St. Petersburg to Vladivostok by rail at 30 miles an hour, 10 days; Vladivostok to San Francisco, via Hakodate straits, 10 days; San Francisco to New York, 4 1/2 days; New York to Bremen, 7 days.
The present shortest time for circuiting the globe is given as follows: New York to Southampton, 6 days; Southampton to Brindisi, via Paris, 3 1/2 days; Brindisi to Yokohama, via Suez, 4 1/2 days; Yokohama to San Francisco, 10 days, and San Francisco to New York, 4 1/2 days, or 56 days in all.

It Caused a Query.

A well-known Australian premier,
and a jubilee G. C. M. G., has, when excited, a difficulty with his "itches."
On one occasion (so the tale runs) he was making an impassioned appeal in committee of supply for more "high schools on the west coast, when an honorable member, with an air of the very deepest sympathy, arose and said:
"I had no idea until the honorable member spoke that things were so bad. Will the honorable member kindly tell the committee how many of these ophthalmic institutions will be required?"

Mr. Dooley's Repartee.

When Peter Dunn, of Dooley fame,
was at the Players' club some months ago, to him was introduced Richard Harding Davis in facetious mood.
"Why, Mr. Dunn," he said, surprised,
"I expected to see you in chin whiskers." "Why, Mr. Davis," Dunn replied, with equal surprise, "I expected to find you in a shirt waist."—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Pearls of Great Price.

The finest pearl necklace in the world
is said to be that of the Countess Henckel, a well-known lady in Paris society. It is composed of three necklaces, each of which was famous in its day. One of them, known as "the necklace of the Virgin of Atoka," was sold to the countess by a Spanish grandee for £12,000. Another was the property of the ex-queen of Naples, the sister of the late ill-fated empress of Austria.
The third was the celebrated necklace of the ex-empress Eugenie, which was worn by her on state occasions, and which was sold not long ago by a firm of London jewelers for £20,000. The value of the Countess Henckel's necklace at the present time is estimated at £50,000.

The Island of Ferro.

The island of Ferro is one of the largest in the Canary group, and it has received its name on account of its iron-bound soil, through which no river or stream flows. In the midst of the island there grows a tree known as the raining tree, the leaves of which are long and narrow. It continues in constant verdure winter and summer, and the branches are covered with a cloud which is never dispelled, but, resolving itself into a moisture, causes to fall from its leaves a very clear water in such abundance that cisterns placed at its foot to receive it are never empty.

Actual Cases.

If there is anything in this world
more anxious than the look on the face of a bachelor who has been beguiled into holding a baby it is the look on the face of the baby's mother eagerly watching him while he does it.

Three Riots at Cleveland.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 16.—Three riots, in which many persons were bruised and out and three non-union men were seriously, if not fatally, injured, made Thursday the most exciting day so far of the strike.

The Euclid, Wade Park, Cedar and
Wilson avenue lines were operated.
One hundred new men arrived from Chicago and other places. Efforts to settle the strike are being made by the arbitrators and the company acting in unison. They are trying to get the strikers to act independently of the union's officers.

Illinois Miners Are Out.

Springfield, Ill., June 16.—All miners in the Chicago and Alton subdistrict

mines at Chatham, Auburn, Girard, Carlinville, Nilwood, Green Ridge,

Vanderbilt and His Director.

"When Commodore Vanderbilt was alive," says a New York Central official,
"the board of directors of the New York Central used to find their work all out for them when they met. All they had to do was to ratify his plans and adjourn. Yet they had their uses.
Occasionally a man would come to him
with some scheme which he did not care
to refuse outright.

"My directors are a difficulty body of men to handle," he would say. "I'll submit it to 'em, but I warn you that they are hard to manage."

"The matter would be submit- d to the board and promptly rejected.

"There," the Commodore would say when his visitor came to learn the result. "I did the best I could, but I told you in advance that my directors were an obdurate lot."

An Easter Novelty.

To a Frenchman we are indebted for the most distinctive Easter novelty. It comes in the form of a chateleine or ornament—a perfect facsimile of a walnut, fashioned of gold, silver or aluminum. Nature is closely imitated in size and texture.

The walnut, which is scarcely two inches in length, opens in the middle.
It is lined with gold or gilded silver.
In one side is a tiny glass bottle, inclosed in gold wires, which hold six one-inch pearl-headed pins. The bottle, with its lipputian glass stopper, holds about ten drops of perfume. The bottle is on a hinge, and when my lady desires to use it it swings out easily.

In the opposite side of the walnut is a three-fourths inch mirror, which opens to disclose a tiny powder puff and a receptacle beneath sufficient to carry powder for several social emergencies. It also admits of car fare.
The price ranges from $2.50 to $25.

Pygmy Unbelievers.

A good story is told by Capt. Guy Barrows in his book, "The Land of the Pygmies," about a white man who was amusing himself by explaining to some African savages, the Mobungli, the wonders of the steam engine and steamship. He drew diagrams on the sand, and the audience listened and looked with apparently intense interest.
At last he asked his hearers whether they understood. "Yes," they replied,
"they thought they did." "There was a deep silence," Capt. Barrows says, "for some time, and then a voice in the center of the crowd expressed the unspoken sentiments of the whole assembly in one emphatic word, uttered in a tone of the deepest conviction—"Liar!" The lecturer's thoughts are not recorded.

The Voice of London.

A writer in the Strand Magazine describes the astonishment he experienced when, riding over London in a balloon, at a height of more than half a mile, he heard the deafening roar of the great city beneath him, as it could not be heard when on the ground.
The noise, even at that height, was so harsh and intense as to be painful to the ear. How perfect a sound-conductor the air is was shown when the balloon drifted far over the city to a wooded part of the country, where the murmur of the leaves moved by the wind, half a mile below, was distinctly heard.

How Frozen Insects Revive.

Experiments in reviving frozen insects, by Mr. S. F. Aaron, show some surprising results. A large Cecropia moth, frozen in the center of a snowball until it was perfectly brittle, revived in twenty seconds when held near a stove. Several newly hatched larvae, revived in a similar manner after being frozen stiff and then thawed out. Similar experiments with ants, butterflies and houseflies gave the same results. But Mr. Aaron noticed that recently hatched insects resist cold better than older ones.

The Terrible "Disease" of the Khalifa.

The special correspondent of the Daily Telegraph at Cairo says that the Khalifa has contracted leprosy. So far the disease has not made much progress, but the nails have fallen from his toes and the marks over his eyebrows are conspicuous. Latterly he has taken to wearing a veil. It is said that the malady was caught a few years ago through the Khalifa's taking the wife of Faded Abad, a black Emir and leper, who has since died.

A Necessary Element.

Religion is a necessary and indispensable element in any great human character. There is no living without it. Religion is the tie that connects man with his Creator and him to His throne. If that tie be all sundered, all broken, he floats away a worthless atom in the universe, its proper attractions all gone, its destiny thwarted, and its whole future nothing but darkness, desolation and death.—Webster.

Female Bootblacks.

In Paris and other large towns in France female bootblacks are increasing in number. They wear a peculiar garb, not unlike that of Sisters of Mercy, which renders their appearance rather neat and attractive. Not a few among them attend to their work with gloved hands.

Clinton, June 16.—The Clinton Check Hook company is a manufacturing industry of this place that has been in operation about two years and is now doing business on a largely increased scale. The company has a number of agents on the road all of whom report ready sales and send in handsome orders for goods. Henry Faltz is the business manager for the company and A. C. Rice secretary.

The Clinton High school has issued a printed course of study, which will be sent those who contemplate attending school here. Students should bear in mind that a complete preparation for entering the freshmen classes at Beloit or Madison can now be secured at the High school here. The Fireman's Tournament will be represented by three delegates from this place. They are H. Kath, George De Wolf and Leo Pye. P. A. Robinson and family expect to leave soon for their new home at Grey's Lake on the Wisconsin Central road near Chicago. Mr. Robinson has been a successful business man in Clinton for nearly ten years. Volney Gates will engage in the creamery business having taken a position in the factory here Harry Holmes, who drove down from Milton for a brief visit with his family, left for home Tuesday. Miss May Morgan's many friends regret that she has decided not to teach here another year. M. T. Park called on old friends a few days ago. J. A. Hamilton was able to be around the first of the week after an attack of the so called "dutch" measles. Fritz Schoepke, one of our popular shoemakers, has just recovered from an illness of several weeks duration. Chaucey Strang has gone to Cold Springs to take charge of a butter factory. C. A. Salisbury has been in Chicago recently for medical treatment. A brother of Albert Nussbaum, who resides in Pennsylvania, visited here last week. Miss Williams, a granddaughter of Mrs. H. P. Lanphier, left for her home in Austin, Texas, after spending several weeks here. H. Fulkerson was here to see relatives this week. C. S. Thomas and wife have been at Lauderdale Lake for a few days. Mrs. H. P. Lanphier still continues very feeble, but shows remarkable vitality considering her advanced years. Miss Jennie Dean and her Sunday school class contemplate an outing at Delvan Lake. F. Kemmerer's family will also go into camp there soon. The stone crushing crew have completed the job which took about two weeks, and the big pile of stone is gone.

CONCERT AT SHOPPIERS SUNDAY.

Accident While Driving—Crops Are Looking Fine.

Shoppers, June 16.—A splendid concert was held at the M. E. church on Sunday evening last. The little children taking part are to be commended. They carried out their parts well. Will Eddy's buggy came apart in front of the store, throwing him to the ground very suddenly. The young lady accompanying him was injured, but not seriously. The horse ran away with the front wheel, going home all right. The buggy was badly broken. Concert at Congregational church Sunday morning, June 18. W. T. Wheeler has a part crop of strawberries which he is picking and selling to the people of this place. A number of beds were winter killed. The crops are looking fine for this time of the year. Some tobacco has been transplanted the past week. Farmers never had a better lot of plants. Albert Weirick and family arrived in Beloit last Saturday. He has bought a lot and will build a home there and reside there in the future. James Parker arrived here on Saturday from Centralia, Washington. He looks well and hearty for one of his age. The Overton sociable was well patronized by the young people and some of the older ones. Shurtleiff's ice cream will always draw a crowd. A very pleasant time was the report of all present. The chapel of the Congregational church is being newly decorated by E. M. Hopkins, of this place.

Janesville's Fourth of July celebration is being extensively advertised in this locality and as Afton people have arranged no celebration of their own this year, it is probable that those who do celebrate will go to the county metropolis and take in the sights there. A carload of poles were unloaded here Wednesday for the new long distance telephone line which will connect Afton with Janesville and Beloit. Afton Camp 2492, M. W. A., accepted two more applications for membership at the regular meeting Saturday evening. Miss Mary E. Scott, of Beloit, was the guest of Afton friends over Sunday. Miss Lois A. Married: On Tuesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Crumb, in this village, Miss Anna Crumb and Mr. Lester M. Babcock. The bride and groom have the hearty congratulations and best wishes of a large circle of friends.

When the Milton team shut out the Richmond Farmers the fans said, "That's only a streak of luck and it won't happen again," but the boys had a similar dose up their sleeves and when they heard that Stoughton's twirler had remarked "that the Stoughtons would beat Crandall out of the box in the first inning," they counseled together and said unto themselves, "We can do it again." Whereupon they got out the kalsomine brush and attired the visitors from "Norseland," who came here Wednesday, in suits of spotless white, much to their surprise and to the delight of the crowd. For four innings neither side was able to score, but in the fifth the home team sized up the imported curver and got three runs and after that it was "all over." Instead of "knocking the Milton curver out of the box" the visitors were not able to get onto the slants, drops and benders that Crandall dished up to them and struck out alike veritable tyros in base ball. Both nines put up a snappy game, with few errors, in the field, but Milton was the better of the two in that feature. It was in all respects the best game of ball that has been played here in years and ought to convince all that the home club is worthy of hearty support.

DEATH SHOCKED ALL CAINVILLE

Sudden Summons of Oscar Collins—A Respected Citizen.

How Emery Is Quarried.

Emery comes from the island of Naxos, in the eastern Mediterranean, whence it has been exported for the last two centuries or more. The beds are in the northeast of the island. There are about 300 men engaged in the trade, all of whom have to be married before they are admitted to the fraternity. The material is much too hard to be dug out or even blasted. Great fires are lighted around the blocks till the natural cracks expand with the heat, and levers are then inserted to pry them apart. This system is continued until the blocks are reduced in size to masses of a cubic foot or less, and they are then shipped as if they were coal. There are said to be 20,000,000 tons yet available at Naxos, and the last reported year's export was 3,950 tons. It is one of the hardest substances known.

Glass Eye for a Horse.

Usually horses that lose an eye or so dispense with the luxury of a glass one. But this is not the case with a famous Pacific coast trotter. The owner of the valuable animal determined that his favorite should not have its beauty marred by an unsightly and eyeless socket. He went to a prominent optician, had an eye made to match the real one and had it fitted into the horse's head. The glass eye seemed not to disturb the horse, and was a complete success in point of appearance. The art of making artificial eyes has reached such a state of excellence that many of them cannot be detected from the real eye. One reason for this is that the pupils of the best glass eyes are so made that they seem to expand or contract to the amount of light that falls upon the eye.

The Grease Tree.

The "Grease Tree" is a native of China, where it is found in large forests, and where its produce, as a lubricant, creates a considerable amount of local traffic. Its cultivation in India has been attempted, and, up to the present, with most successful results. In the Punjab and northwest provinces generally, it grows as rapidly and vigorously as in its native soil, and there are already thousands of trees on the government plantations yielding tons of seed, useful for a variety of commercial purposes; the grease it produces is admirably adapted for railway lubricating purposes; it also forms an excellent tallow, burning with a clear, brilliant white light, without any offensive or unpleasant odor, and with little or no smoke.

Cost of Burning a Heretic.

In the course of an article sketching the histories of some early English ecclesiastics, a writer in the Windsor Magazine tells what it cost to burn a heretic. The items are taken from the municipal records of Canterbury, dated 1535, and are as follows: For the expenses of bringing a heretic from London.....14s 8d For 1½ loads of wood to burn him.....2s For gunpowder.....1d A stake and staple.....8d "Executions cost more nowadays, but the difference in methods makes the extra expense justifiable at least," is the grave comment made.

The Heaviest Metal.

The heaviest metal is osmium, which has, bulk for bulk, very nearly twice the weight of lead. The specific gravity of gold is about nineteen and a quarter, while that of osmium is almost twenty-two and a half. Osmium is also the most infusible of metals, remaining unaffected by a degree of heat capable of causing platinum to run like water. It even resists the inconceivable temperature of the electric arc.

Paderewski at Home.

Paderewski lives in a house that is a veritable museum of musical relics. Articles that have belonged to all the great composers are everywhere, and the faces of their departed owners gaze upon you from the walls. Flowers there are in profusion, for admirers send to the famous pianist great bunches daily. The whole of the wall in one room is occupied by the enormous laurel wreath presented to him at Leipzig.

Lightning and Wire Fences.

So many cattle were killed by lightning while standing near wire fences, in the state of Illinois, during the summer of 1898, that it has been proposed to diminish the danger by means of ground wires, which would conduct the electricity during a thunderstorm, from the fence-wires into the earth.

An Ante-Expansionist.

Hoax—How did you find out that Kydder was opposed to expansion? Joax—By playing poker with him. "So," "Yes," as soon as he got into the game he got up to increase the ante." "Well, what of that?" "Why, that makes him an ante-expansionist, doesn't it?"

D'Ennery's Ready Wit.

Adolphe d'Ennery, the French dramatist, who died recently, had a ready and pungent wit. One of his rivals once remarked: "This d'Ennery is a true Jew; that is why he never produces a play without interest." "Ah," replied d'Ennery, "what a good Christian you are!"

The Loftiest Inhabited Place.

The loftiest inhabited place in the world is the Buddhist monastery of Haine, in Tibet. It is about 17,000 feet above the sea.

Fortifications of Spanish Town.

The town of Palmas Soreano consists of several hundred thatched houses and perhaps about 50 frame, brick and stone houses, with tiled roofs. It is situated in a valley surrounded by hills. A line of forts stretches from northeast to southwest, with a line of barbed wire fence in front of them toward the west. Standing in the lookout box of one, I counted 11 of these small forts or blockhouses, from 100 to 200 or more yards apart. They are all surrounded with lines of barbed wire, through which it would be almost impossible to pick one's way without becoming terribly lacerated.

Beyond this entanglement is a deep and wide ditch, crossed by a bridge leading to a covered gateway. Inside of this the parapet rises, made of logs, stones and gravel. It has 12 embrasures and incloses an octagonal square about 100 feet in diameter. Here I found an old brass rifled cannon, howitzer type, marked Sevilla, July 3, 1789, in a good state of preservation. In the center of the inclosure stands a square, double story log building, double walled, filled with stone and loopholed. The second story and the sentinel are accessible only by ladders from the inside—a truly formidable citadel against troops without artillery.

English Money Lenders.

An English clergyman, being pestered with offers from insurers to advance him sums of money, had the curiosity to answer one by asking on what terms he would loan him £250. By return of post there arrived a letter asking particulars of his rent, life insurance and other intimate matters. To this he made no reply. Then followed a note asking him to call in London on a certain day, to which he sent an answer that he did not intend to call, and that the money lender need not trouble himself further in the matter.

But the affair was not at an end. Two days later a registered letter arrived, inclosing £250 in notes and a form to be filled up, promising to pay £800 in three months. The clergyman then put the money, the form and the correspondence in the hands of his solicitor, who, after three weeks' delay, returned the notes to the insurers and got a guinea out of them for his costs.

Model of the Pinafore.

W. S. Gilbert has a collection of curiosities at his house at Harrow Weald and among them is the model of a man-of-war of 100 years ago, fifteen feet long. It was from this that the scene in "Pinafore" was designed.

Smokers in France.

In France there are 6,000,000 smokers, and of every fifteen there are eight who smoke a pipe, five who smoke cigars, and only two who use cigarettes. Still, they use more than 800,000,000 cigarettes a year, or enough to go around the world 500 times if they were placed end to end in a line.

Bad management keeps more people in poor circumstances than any other cause. To be successful one must look ahead and plan ahead so that when a favorable opportunity presents itself he is ready to take advantage of it. A little forethought will also save much expense and valuable time. A prudent and careful man will keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house, the shiftless fellow will wait until necessity compels it and then ruin his best horse going for a doctor and have a big doctor bill to pay, besides; one pays out 25 cents, the other is out a hundred dollars and then wonders why his neighbor is getting richer while he is getting poorer. For sale by People's Drug Co., Cor. Main and Milwaukee streets.

School Children Fed Free.

In every school in Paris there is a restaurant where free meals are served to the children who are too poor to pay for them.

JOHN ARQUETTE PLACED ON STAND

CAUSES SENSATIONAL SCENE IN COURT ROOM.

Attorney John Cunningham Refuses to Further Act in Behalf of Arquette, Claiming That He Won't Listen to His Advice—Snipe Hill Man Told Many Queer Tales.

Plenty of evidence of an interesting nature was given in the municipal court today in the arson case of the State of Wisconsin vs. Anthony Dixon, Thomas Dillon and John Arquette.

At 10:30 o'clock this morning Attorney John Cunningham for the defendants, arose and informed the court that he declined to further act as attorney in behalf of John Arquette, for the reason that Arquette refused to listen to his advice in the matter.

Attorney Cunningham had no sooner seated himself than Arquette jumped to his feet and cried aloud saying:

"Your Honor—I am a man without money or friends. I am alone here. They have got me into this scrape and want me to take the stand. They tell me I will get twenty-five years if I do. They have formed a conspiracy and I want to tell the truth if I get the rest of my life. I trust to the justice of Mr. Fife."

Judge Fife informed Arquette to remain quiet and that he would be allowed to take the stand.

Arquette took the witness box and from start to finish Arquette told a complicated story that was anything but to his credit.

He stated that at the time of the fire he was working for Dixon at his town of Rock farm and that he received a dollar a day.

On the Saturday night of the fire he stated that Dixon asked him to go to town with him saying that Paul Rudolph wanted to see him.

Instead of stopping to see Rudolph, Arquette stated that he and Dixon drove to the fair grounds barn. On arriving there they both went in the barn and soon it was in flames. Arquette says that he and Dixon first removed several articles from the barn and then after firing it drove home. He said he then went to Officer Cochran here and told him about the case and also of the detective part that he was playing in the case in order to bring about the arrest of Dixon.

Then he left for Milwaukee. Arquette stated that while in Milwaukee he was visited by detectives who got him drunk on two glasses of beer and then had him write out a confession implicating himself, Dixon and Dillon.

"I have traveled a good deal in this world; I have seen a good deal of this kind of business," said Arquette this morning, "and I told Mr. Dixon that if he set fire to that barn he should not tell a living soul, not even his wife. Mr. Dixon had a good deal of confidence in me, and it seemed as if he would trust his life with me."

He never asked me to keep the matter still, nor did he ask me to set fire to the barn. I then advised him to do it alone, but he talked so much that I did not pay any further attention to him."

At 12 o'clock court took a recess until 2 o'clock, when Arquette again took the stand.

Arquette during the examination this afternoon acted as his own attorney carrying his part out like a full fledged lawyer.

C. L. Wood, a farmer residing near the fair grounds, swore that he saw a man that resembled Arquette near his place the night of the fire.

O. P. Nowlan, Frank D. Kimball, ex Sheriff Ashton, Chief of Police Hogan, J. F. Sweeney and Archie Reid swore that they would not believe Arquette under oath.

WATERTOWN PLAYERS HERE

Had the Celebrated Chick for Their Pitcher This Afternoon

The local Y. M. C. A. nine were their opponents with Adkins in the box, assisted by McMasters.

A fair sized crowd assembled to see the sport but was not half as large as it should have been.

ILL FIVE MINUTES; DEATH FOLLOWED

APOPLEXY CAUSES DEMISE OF JAMES HOME.

Taken Sick After Preparing Himself to Enjoy His Evening Meal at the Palmer Memorial Hospital—Resided at Milton and Is Well Known Throughout the County

James Home died at the Palmer Memorial hospital last evening at 6:45 o'clock within five minutes from the time he was first taken ill, apoplexy being the cause of his sudden demise.

During the day Home was about the yard, apparently feeling as well as he had during the past few years and at no time did he complain of not feeling well.

When the supper hour approached, Home made preparation to partake of the evening meal.

At 6:40 he was suddenly taken with a stroke of apoplexy and soon after willing hands had reached his quivering form, life was extinct.

Mr. Home has been at the hospital three years and nine months receiving treatment.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Home, of Milton. He was of Scotch descent and respected by all. He was fifty-five years of age and for thirty-five years was engaged in business at Benton Harbor, Mich., being an expert druggist. He had also studied medicine.

Besides a widowed mother he leaves five brothers and two sisters as follows: William, John Robert, Caesar and Edward, and Misses Elizabeth and Mary Home.

Funeral services will be held at Milton Sunday at 2 o'clock.

Bridget McShane

From St. Patrick's church at 9:30 o'clock this morning, funeral services were held over the remains of the late Miss Bridget McShane.

Rev. J. J. Collins officiated and the interment was in Mount Olivet cemetery.

The pall bearers were: James Dea, Dennis Sullivan, Stewart McConnell, Thomas Flaherty, John Schicker and Patrick Mulquin.

William Grimm.

The funeral of the late William Grimm was held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his home, 308 Cherry street. Rev. Paul Werth, of St. John's German Lutheran church officiated and the interment was in Oak Hill cemetery.

A TALK TO HOUSEKEEPERS

A Few Hints Worth Thinking About Regarding Fruits For Preserving.

But few women have commenced the annual work of fruit preserving, and we would suggest that they lose no time in starting strawberries and cherries. The strawberry crop will be less than half and within a few days the bulk of the home grown crop will be here. Prices now are $1.50 a crate and they probably will not be cheaper.

The cherry crop cannot be depended on to any extent, and it will be light and the home grown will be exhausted within a short time. They are selling now at $2 a bushel.

The peach crop this season will be short. The severe winter hurt peach trees and plums and pears will of necessity be looked to for preserves. Blackberries and raspberries promise to be a fair crop and will be used extensively for the winter preserves.

Our advice to ladies is to secure strawberries and cherries soon as possible. We are taking orders for fancy stock and can care for your wants in any quantity. Sanborn & Co.

Odd Furniture.

Perhaps the oddest suit of furniture in the world is owned by Joseph Berger, a hotelkeeper in Budapest. For many years he has made it his business to collect the match boxes from factories of various countries. His collection aggregates 4,000 boxes. He ordered a skilled cabinetmaker to equip a room with furniture made of these boxes. The outfit consists of a writing table with smoking apparatus, a fire screen, a cabinet, a chair, and other smaller articles. Though the boxes are empty, they are adjusted so ingeniously that the pieces are fully as strong as the ordinary furniture.

Railroads in Palestine.

Palestine's railroad system, according to a Port Said correspondent of a Swiss railroad journal, consists of a single line running from Janna to Jerusalem. The journey, which could formerly be made in one day only under favorable conditions, and usually necessitated a night's stop midway, is now accomplished in four hours. Only one train is run each way daily, except on market and feast days, but that train is well patronized. Pilgrims to Jerusalem complain that the road does not land them in the city, but at a somewhat distant station outside.

Relics of Days Long Gone.

The shells found on the shores of Lake Tanganyika, in Central Africa, are unlike the usual forms found in other lakes, though they cannot be directly associated with any living oceanic species, and it is argued that they were survivors of the marine fauna of some more ancient times, when the lake was connected with the ocean. The water of the lake is known to be brackish.

Britannia Rules the Seas.

DECIDE TO ERECT A CHAPEL

Improvements to Be Made at Oak Hill Cemetery

A meeting of the stockholders of the Oak Hill Cemetery association was held last evening at the office of Dr. W. H. Judd. The board of trustees was directed to build a waiting room as soon as the Janesville Street Railway Company extends its line to Mount Olivet cemetery. The board was also instructed to build a chapel at an expense not to exceed $2,500.

At the meeting it was also decided to increase the size of the water mains on the grounds from two to four-inch pipes.

The building of the waiting station will depend upon the action of the street railway company. Supt. Hurd is unable to tell just when they will decide to make the extension. The plans call for a building eighteen feet square with a veranda eight feet wide on three sides of the building, making the roof space 34 by 26 feet, to cost about $450.

The plans for the chapel call for a building about forty feet square, to have a seating capacity of one hundred, which can be crowded to one hundred and fifty people. It will be built of Janesville quarry stone, and be trimmed with cut stone. The roof will be of slate, the cornice of metal, to be finished inside with red birch. It will be of gothic architecture, and the main room in the form of a maids cross.

Contractor Sutton Norris of this city, prepared the plans and specifications. The building committee consists of Dr. E. E. Loomis, Dr. W. H. Judd and Will T. Sherr.

Henry C. Payne Gives His Idea of Probable Monetary Legislation.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 16.—Henry C. Payne of Wisconsin, who returned Thursday from New York, where he attended a conference of the senate finance committee, says:

I base this opinion upon what I know of the situation. Of course no formal action of the senate committee has been taken, but from impressions of members I have no hesitancy in saying that this monetary reform legislation will be brought about."

He thinks as soon as the $3,000,000 now being paid to the Cuban soldiers has been spent, the indolent Cubans will start a guerrilla warfare against the forces of this country rather than go to work. This, Capt. Swobe says, would force this country to subdue the Cubans. He also expects the people of Porto Rico to make trouble by demanding independence.

I will sell the place with all farm appliances, horses, Jersey cattle, wagons, carriages and with curtains, carpets and similar household fittings, far below value on account of ill health. Will give somebody a big bargain in order to close the deal at once.

WHEN ONE IS YOUNG.

When one is young, what matters care?
For youth has mirth and joy to spare.
The future is a blinding fire
That lights the pathway of desire,
And doing's but a name for dare.

What smiling masks the grim fates wear,
How amiable and debonaire
The best seems easy to acquire
When one is young.

Youth is a multimillionaire
Who fastens on the best of fare,
Whom all delights and mirth can tire,
Who treats the world as his empire;
But old age sets its fatal snare
When one is young.

Uncle Caleb's Will.

"You mean that you can't put your self out to give your mother's brother a night's lodging?" said Caleb Cheverel bitterly.

The March wind, bearing dust, grit and bits of flying paper on its restless wings, came whistling around the corner, lifted the old man's faded comforter's ends and turned his blue nose a shade bluer still, while Mrs. Larkins, his eldest niece, stood in her doorway, filling up the aperture with her ample person in such a way as to suggest the familiar legend, "No admittance."

"I'm very sorry," said Mrs. Larkins stiffly, "but we have but one spare room, and that is at present occupied. Of course I should be glad to do all I could for you, but—"

"I understand, I understand," said Uncle Cheverel, turning coldly away. "I'll go to my niece Jenny. I wish you a very good evening."

Mrs. Larkins closed the door with a sigh of very evident relief.

"I dare say Jenny will take care of him," she said philosophically. "Jenny has a smaller family than I have. But I don't see why he came up to London, instead of staying peacefully down in Tortoise Hollow, where he belongs."

Mrs. Jenny Eldertop, Mr. Cheverel's youngest niece, had a smaller family than her sister Rebecca; but, then, she had a smaller income as well. She had just finished a vigorous day's cleaning when Uncle Caleb was announced.

"Oh, drat the man!" said Mrs. Eldertop, wringing her parboiled fingers out of a basin of steaming soapuds. "What sends him here of all the times in the world?"

And she went down stairs ungraciously enough to the street door, where her husband was welcoming the old stranger.

"Come in, Uncle Cheverel, come in," said honest Will Eldertop. "We're all upside down here—we mostly are, now that the spring cleaning is going on. But there's room for you if you don't mind the children and their noise, and a little smell of whitewash in the spare room."

Mrs. Eldertop's welcome was by no means so cordial. She looked, to use a common expression, "vinegar and darning needles" at the visitor, while in her inmost soul she calculated the probability of the cold boiled ham and turnips holding out for one more at supper. "Come, Benny, don't scowl so," said Mr. Eldertop, when Uncle Caleb had gone up stairs to wash his hands and face. "Ain't he your uncle?"

"A good for nothing old vagabond," said Mrs. Eldertop acidly, "without a halfpenny laid up ahead."

"For all that he's your guest," said her husband, "and you're bound to be civil to him. And here's his overcoat now with a big zigzag rent in it. Just mend it while you're waiting for the kettle to boil."

"I won't!" said Mrs. Eldertop. "All right," retorted her lord and master. "Then I'll take it next door to Alexia Allen to mend."

Now, Miss Allen, the tailoress, who lived in the adjoining house, was pretty and buxom to look upon, and Mrs. Eldertop had nursed comfortably a jealousy of her for the last four years. "You'll do no such thing!" said Jenny tartly. "Hand it here!"

And she threaded a needle with black silk and thrust her finger into a thimble very much as a determined crusader of old might have donned sword and shield for some encounter with the Moslem.

"What's that?" said Mr. Eldertop, for a folded paper fell from the pocket of the garment as his wife turned it upside down.

"Some tomfoolery or other," answered Mrs. Jenny brusquely.

"I fancy you're mistaken," said Mr. Eldertop. "It's the rough draft of a will."

"But he's got nothing to leave," retorted Mrs. Eldertop.

"I'm not so certain of that," retorted Will. "Just look here, Jenny! I give and bequeath to my two beloved nieces, in equally divided parts, the sum of £10,000, at present invested in consols, and—"

"Go on!" said Mrs. Eldertop breathlessly. "Read the rest."

"There is no rest," said her husband. "That's the end of the paper. It's only a rough draft, I tell you. And now what's your opinion of Uncle Cheverel's fortunes?"

"He's been a miser all along," said Mrs. Eldertop, her face growing radiant, "making up poor months and traveling around the country with all this money in the funds, a regular old character—just like those one reads about in novels! Put it back, Will; put it back. We've no business to be prying into Uncle Caleb's secrets. But what a blessing it is he came here instead of stopping at Rebecca Larkins'!"

And when Uncle Cheverel came down stairs he was surprised at the sweet smiles with which his niece Jenny welcomed him.

"Been mending my coat, eh?" said Uncle Cheverel. "Thank'ee kindly, Jenny. I caught it on a nail yesterday, and I was calculating to sew it up myself when I could borrow a needle and thread."

"I'm glad to be of use, Uncle Caleb," beamed Mrs. Eldertop. "Johnny, put on your cap and run to the grocer's for a smoked mackerel for your uncle's breakfast. I hope you found your room comfortable, Uncle Caleb?"

Before she slept that night Mrs. Eldertop put on her bonnet and shawl and ran around to the Larkins mansion to impart her wonderful tidings to Sister Rebecca.

"You don't say so!" cried out the astonished matron.

"Gospel truth!" said Mrs. Eldertop. "I saw it with my own eyes."

"He must come here," said Mrs. Larkins resolutely.

"Not if I know it," said Mrs. Eldertop. "He's my guest, and my guest he shall remain."

"But if I'm to share equally with you," said Mrs. Larkins, "I ought to show him some attention, the dear, generous hearted old man!"

"Let be should alter his will!" shrewdly remarked Sister Jenny. "You always were a worldly creature Becky!"

"No more than yourself!" said Mrs. Larkins, bristling up. "But it's my family I am thinking of, Jenny. I'll tell you what—I'll come around and see him tomorrow."

"But don't you breathe a syllable about the will," said Mrs. Eldertop, in a mysterious whisper.

"Oh, not for worlds!" said Mrs. Larkins fervently.

During the next week Uncle Cheverel was overwhelmed with civilities. On Thursday a new suit of clothes arrived, with Mrs. Larkins' best love and compliments. On Friday Mrs. Larkins came with an open barouche to take dear Uncle Caleb for a drive in the park. And on Saturday Mrs. Eldertop burst into tears and declared she should be never happy again if her mother's only brother didn't pledge himself then and there to make his future home with herself and Will.

Uncle Caleb looked a little puzzled. "Well," said he, "if you really make a point of it—but I was intending to meet Cousin John at Gravesend."

"Dear uncle, promise me to stay here always," cried Mrs. Eldertop.

"Just as you say, Niece Jenny," assented the old man complacently.

Mrs. Eldertop felt that she had carried her point.

But when Mr. and Mrs. Larkins came on Sunday afternoon, to press a similar petition, Uncle Caleb opened his eyes.

"My importance seems to have 'gone up' in the market," he observed quaintly. "I never was in such demand among my relatives before. But I can't be in two places at once, that's plain."

And he decided to remain with Mrs. Eldertop, greatly to the indignation of the Larkins family, who did not hesitate to hint boldly at unfair advantages and undue impartiality.

But just as Mrs. Larkins was rising to depart, with her handkerchief to her eyes, little Johnny Eldertop came clamoring for a piece of paper to cut a kite tail from.

"Go along," said Mrs. Eldertop impatiently.

"We've no paper here. Go to Alexia."

"Hold on, little chap—hold on!" said Uncle Caleb, fumbling in his overcoat pocket—he had been just about starting for a walk when the Larkins party arrived—"here's a bit as is of no use to nobody."

And he produced the "rough draft" and bestowed it on Johnny.

"One side's written on," said he, "and t'other ain't. It was lying on the floor in Mr. Watkins' law office when I stepped in to see if Joseph Hall was employed there as porter still. An old chum of mine Hall was in Tortoise Hollow. I can't bear to see even a bit of paper wasted, so I axed the clerk if it was of any use. He said no—it was only a draft of Dr. Falcon's will. Dr. Falcon made a new will every six months, he said, so I jest picked it up and put it in my pocket. Everything comes in use once in seven years, they say, and this is just right for little Johnny's kite tail."

Mrs. Larkins looked at Mrs. Eldertop. Mr. Eldertop stared into the spectacled eyes of Mr. Larkins.

Uncle Caleb chuckled benevolently as little Johnny skipped away with the piece of paper which had been freighted with such a wealth of anticipation.

The Larkins took leave without any unnecessary formula of adieu, and Mrs. Eldertop took occasion to tell Uncle Caleb that perhaps he had better prosecute his original design of the Gravesend visit.

"Because we're expecting company tomorrow," said she, "and our best room will be wanted for a while. And," she added, within herself, "I will take good care that it shan't be empty again, just at present."

So Uncle Caleb Cheverel went to Gravesend, where Cousin John was as poor and warm hearted as himself, and he was never invited to return to London again.

Five years later Uncle Caleb departed this life and left behind him £20,000 in consols—willed to John Clark. To his "dear nieces," Jane Eldertop and Rebecca Larkins, he left £5 each to pay for the trouble he put them to when he visited them. To say that there was joy in the nieces' households when the will was read would be to say what is false, for, if the old man could have guessed at all the unkind things that would be uttered regarding him, I doubt if he would have left them even £5 each. —Glasgow Scottish Nights.

CONDITIONS IN PONCE.

City Can Grow Steadily in All Directions if Necessary.

Ponce claims, by her last census, a population of 39,000 people in her urban and rural districts of the province. In the town proper, however, the population is 15,000 or a little over, though by including the villages of Cantera, Canas, and Playa, which are closely connected together, and lie on the highway leading to the water front two miles away, the number may be raised to 24,500, or quite as many people as in San Juan proper. An important factor to men contemplating a permanent residence in some town on the island is the possibility of extension of the corporate limits. Ponce has none of the natural barriers to expansion existing at San Juan, as it is built upon a level surface, under the edges of the rolling hills, and at a considerable elevation above the sea. It can grow readily, in almost any direction, with equal facility, and it has not at its threshold any of the miasmatic, fetid marshes so common to the coast. There are three hospitals, including the military; a home for the indigent poor, a few fair schools, several clubs, at which Americans are very graciously received; a very pretty little theater, several hotels and cafes, which are the best on the island; a library with a few rare books and many worthless ones, gas, electric light, and ice plants—all for small and defective; water works, supplying an abundance of good potable water; thermal baths, of which few seem to avail themselves, and lastly, the only Protestant church in Porto Rico.—Harper's Weekly.

Raising the Dead.

London Mail: The newspapers are commenting upon a reported case of Professor Tuffier, in which it is said he restored a dead man to life by opening the thorax and manipulating the heart. The report is naturally more startling to the lay mind than to the medical reader, for we well know that until certain chemico changes take place in vital tissues, they are not absolutely and functionally dead beyond the possibility of resuscitation. Many physicians can recall cases of revival after apparent dissolution, by continued artificial respiration, injection of stimulants or saline solutions, or some other measure of the kind. Prof. Tuffier's case is, nevertheless, if correctly reported, a striking one, and may rank as a justifiable physiologic experiment on the human subject.
